Dear Parents,

On Friday, 3rd October, the company West End in Schools will be working with all children in Upper Court.

The focus of the day will be the dark and dramatic world of Shakespeare's Macbeth. Each class will receive a workshop with a visiting specialist, leading to an in-house performance worthy of the Scottish Play itself.

The cost of the day will be £6 per child, which will be added to your next termly bill.

We are greatly looking forward to watching the children bring Shakespeare's words to life. As Macbeth himself declares, "I dare do all that may become a man; Who dares do more is none." We are sure our pupils will dare just enough—finding courage, laughter, and plenty of learning along the way.

Kind regards,

Samuel Lom and Sharon Drislane
Head of Music and Drama; Acting Head of English
